The Purpose of the Main Theme

The 20th World Conference of Historical Cities will focus on the following SDGs goal and target:

SDG Goal 11: Sustainable Cities and Communities

Target 11.4: Strengthen efforts to protect and safeguard the world's cultural and natural heritage.

SDG Goal 11 aims to make cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient, and sustainable. The cultural heritage referred to in Target 11.4 includes areas and structures of cultural and historical significance. By preserving this heritage and sharing its value beyond national and regional boundaries, we can learn the importance of understanding and respecting diverse cultures and histories. However, due to changes in the natural environment and social conditions, cultural heritage faces a wide range of threats, including natural disasters, environmental issues, and human-induced hazards.

The 20th Conference will bring together historical cities to share knowledge and experiences on initiatives to protect and utilize cultural heritage exposed to these threats. Through this exchange, the Conference aims to raise awareness of cultural heritage preservation and to reaffirm the importance of a safe and secure society that promotes well-being.

The Conference Official Website Will Be Launched in May 2026

- Details of the registration procedure and calling for speakers will be announced in March 2026.
- Details of the Youth Programs will be informed in June 2026.
- Registration for the conference and speakers' application starts in June 2026.

Mashhad, a bustling metropolis in northeastern Iran and the center of Khorasan Razavi province, welcomes millions of pilgrims and tourists annually to the radiant shrine of Imam Ali ibn Musa al-Rida (AS). Once being the capital of Iran during the Afsharid era, the city boasts its profound ties to Iranian history and culture, enhanced by its natural attractions, historical sites, and extensive transportation and accommodation infrastructure.

The urban management policies of Mashhad prioritize the conservation of historical heritage to bolster the city's identity and sustainable development. Protection, restoration, revival, and utilization of cultural assets form a core strategy, particularly in the historic fabric around the holy shrine, aiming to stimulate the economy by transforming heritage sites into tourist hubs and revenue generators. The Mashhad Municipality's Urban Renewal Organization leads these efforts, collaborating with stakeholders and private sector partners to implement comprehensive initiatives.

Mashhad: Iran's Spiritual Capital and Guardian of Historical Heritage

Key Preservation Initiatives

Restoration of Historic Buildings: In Mashhad, the restoration of historic landmarks bridges the spiritual past with modern urban life. By breathing new life into structures like the Malek House, Darugha House, Tavakoli House, and the Azizollah-af Caravanserai, the city transforms static monuments into vibrant cultural hubs. Through both municipal funding and private investment, these sites now serve as active community spaces, ensuring that architectural heritage survives alongside the city's rapid expansion.

Historic Fabric Management: Establishment of dedicated facilitation offices, neighborhood development plans, and incentive packages for restoration (including design approvals, permits, owner loans, promotional campaigns, street paving, facade repairs, historic neighborhood plans, and renaming streets to their original names).

Revival of Historic Passageways: Simultaneously, the revival of historic passageways focuses on the traditional pilgrimage experience. Key routes such as Sarshour, Eidgah, Khosravi, and Tabarsi are being rehabilitated to reclaim their historical identity. In a pilgrimage-centric city like Mashhad, these corridors do more than move traffic; they preserve the ritualistic "spirit of place," connecting the modern cityscape to the sacred Imam Reza Shrine through authentic, pedestrian-friendly environments.

Identification and Promotion: Compilation of old street names for historic districts with corresponding signage; installation of historic site guideboards; citizen tours to highlight heritage stories; feasibility studies for historic gates and event spaces; restoration of landmarks like Targh Historic Rabat, Targh Ivan, and Tus Historic Wall.

Adaptive Reuse and Investment: Social partnerships for up to two million Euros in reviving valuable houses, repurposing them into boutique hotels, traditional cafes, and restaurants, while promoting private investments to support local economies.

These endeavors safeguard 56 nationally registered historic houses and 650 identified culturally valuable buildings, positioning Mashhad as a leader in urban regeneration and heritage preservation.

Two cities, Hamedan and Natanz, have been officially approved to be our new members. The current number of member cities has reached to

The Exhibition Hall - Arcrea HIMEJI

The Exhibition Hall on the first floor is a column-free space, measuring 4,000 square meters with a height of approximately 10 meters. It can be divided into three sections and the two-thirds of the space shall be used: one-third for the conference and another one-third for PR booths of applicant cities and refreshments.

The program was well structured and all activities were executed smoothly. There were ample opportunities to engage and exchange insights with representatives from other cities, which added significant value to the experience.

Feed-back from Directors

The City of Himeji prepared the halal menu and that was a particularly good idea for members of various religious faiths.
